LIVE MUSIC
OFFICE
LIVE AND LOCAL

In May 2017 Music SA undertook a census of live music of licensed premises in greater Adelaide, to take a snapshot of the state of play. Compiled by Music SA staff, the data was gathered from venue websites and social media pages, and various gig guides online and in printed form. Further information was sourced through word of mouth, working the phones, as well as Music SA and industry contacts. The Live Music Office provided assistance for the project.

The same exercise was undertaken in May 2015 and May 2016 so that Music SA is now able to present comparative figures. In each year the research has been a best effort exercise to capture as many gigs as possible, but may not be conclusive as some venues may have been unintentionally overlooked. However, what this gives us is a very good indication of the state of play, and is the least of what happened during the month of May. May was selected so that figures were not skewed by heightened cultural activity during February and March, nor the spring and Christmas seasons.

Music SA were able to undertake a thorough investigation this year and found that there were 1108 gigs across 211 venues. This is an increase on 2015 figures and a slight increase on 2016 figures, demonstrating the sustainability and value of live music as an industry in South Australia.

Highlights:

2015	2016	2017
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 962 gigs were presented</li> <li>• 157 venues hosted live music</li> <li>• Hotels provided 769 gigs across 108 venues – (79.9% of gigs and 68.7% of venues)</li> <li>• There were 17 gigs across 3 Entertainment Venues, 39 gigs in 8 Clubs, and 17 gigs in 6 Restaurants</li> <li>• Only 1 small venue licence had live music, hosting 3 gigs across the month. (0.3% of gigs and 0.5% of venues). This category of liquor licence was introduced in 2012 to support the development of the live music sector in South Australia</li> <li>• Gigs were 30% original and 70% covers</li> <li>• Adelaide City provided the most live music</li> <li>• 11 of the Special Circumstances Licences were Hotels.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 1101 gigs were presented</li> <li>• 208 venues hosted live music</li> <li>• Hotels provided 899 gigs across 153 venues – (81.6% of gigs and 73.5% of venues)</li> <li>• There were 23 gigs across 6 Entertainment Venues, 47 gigs in 13 Clubs, and 36 gigs in 6 Restaurants</li> <li>• Only 2 small venue licences had live music, hosting 4 gigs across the month. This category of liquor licence was introduced in 2012 to support the development of the live music sector in South Australia</li> <li>• Gigs were 33% original and 67% covers</li> <li>• The suburb of Adelaide provided the most live music</li> <li>• 14 of the Special Circumstances Licences were Hotels.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 1108 gigs were presented</li> <li>• 211 venues hosted live music</li> <li>• Hotels provided 912 gigs across 161 venues – (84% of gigs and 76% of venues)</li> <li>• There were 35 gigs across 10 Entertainment Venues, 39 gigs in 11 Clubs, and 12 gigs in 4 Restaurants</li> <li>• Only 1 small venue licence had live music, hosting 6 gigs across the month. This category of liquor licence was introduced in 2012 to support the development of the live music sector in South Australia</li> <li>• Gigs were 34% original and 66% covers</li> <li>• The suburb of Adelaide provided the most live music</li> <li>• 20 of the Special Circumstances Licences were Hotels.</li> </ul>

- Short term, it captures what sort of music is presented in licensed premises in greater Adelaide and who presents it.
- The census shows a 15% increase in gigs and a 34% increase in venues overall (2015 compared to 2017).
- Longer term, the project provides a baseline of the live music scene from which to evaluate the effectiveness of strategic policy delivery such as regulatory reform as well as to assist in determining funding priorities. Case in point is the presentation of live music in the small venue license category. Whilst there are now over 60 small venue licenses, this census has shown that only 1 of these stages live music. It has been identified that while the license category was created to encourage live music, entertainment has been restricted through the planning approval process. The recent 90 Day Change Project has recommended development exemption for small venues.
- Hotels includes some clubs, bars, special circumstances licenses and entertainment venues.

The Grace Emily Hotel George Swallow

Live music is what we do, without it we wouldn't have our business or our community. Our passion for live original music and creating a community is what drives us. Having a city with a thriving live music scene adds not only to our city's image but has great economic benefits. When people come out to The Grace to see a show they don't just head to the gig, they will most likely come into the city and visit many venues, restaurants and businesses. Live music draws people from all over into the city.

The Tonkin Family The Gov

At The Gov, live music is at the heart of creating a community who feel connected to the hotel. It's the thing that draws people back time and again. Locals come to our Front Bar music events that not only have live bands on show at The Gumbo Room and on Saturday nights, but also encourage everyone to get involved through our open mic night, ukulele society and old-timer fiddlers group. These regular events are an important part of creating a vibrant place for our local community. The Venue draws from the wider Adelaide area and into the regions of the state by presenting an opportunity for audiences to see local and touring acts in a great environment. Through positive relationships with bands and promoters we have created a place where they too enjoy the experience. Everyone wins because the positive experience encourages them all to return. Live music is what we love and it's what our community loves. It's that connection that makes The Gov a success.

The Hurley Group

The Hurley Hotel Group has always been a proud live music supporter and we still feature artists in all our bars (where possible) every week of the year. Live entertainment is integral to our business in not only attracting people to our venues but also getting them to stay longer. There is such an amazing and diverse talent range in Adelaide at the moment that we are loving.

Lisa Bishop General Manager Music SA

Music SA is delighted with the results of third annual Live Music Census. Live music is a difficult business however the increase in local work for musicians is encouraging. With further planned improvements to live music regulation we foresee a sustainability that will demonstrate the importance of live music as an industry that drives South Australia's economic transformation. Additionally, the spirit of cooperation amongst Music SA, government at all levels, the Australian Hotels Association, musicians, clubs and venues is ripe. There's never been a better time for audiences to enjoy live music and for the industry to get behind significant live music gig initiatives such as Umbrella Winter City Sounds, the ACC's Live Music Action Plan, the Adelaide Festival Centre's Guitars in Bars, and the SA Tourism Commission's Live Music Events Fund. We are truly a UNESCO City of Music and we are open for business!
